

WORKSHOP KITCHEN AND BAR

A CONCRETE GETAWAY WITH 40OZ RIB-EYES AND 12-DUDE PUNCH BOWLS

PUBLISHED ON 9/26/2012 BY JEFF MILLER@jeffmillerla

1985

f SHARE

Giving you a reason to go to Palm Springs that doesn't rhyme with the words "Schmochella" or "Schmisiting My Schrandma", Workshop looks like the type of place crazy-rich cavemen'd eat at, with 27' cathedral ceilings and floor-to-ceiling concrete. And while the food will make it hard to get up and leave (see: 40oz grass-fed rib-eyes, duck confit quesadillas, and lobster breakfast burritos), the booze will make it even harder assuming you order the 12-person Bombay Government Punch bowl.

1. WORKSHOP KITCHEN AND BAR

Workshop Kitchen and Bar is an American restaurant in Palm Springs. Local farm-sourced ingredients factor heavily into the food menu, and the same goes for their fresh, refreshing in-house made cocktails.

 800 N Palm Canyon Dr, Palm Springs, CA 92262
 760.459.3451  Website  Menu

If this menu were an old Nickelodeon show, it'd be Wild And Crazy Kids. It's that good. Seriously, the sous vide octopus carpaccio alone is worth reading up on.